BEAUTY, MUSIC AND ORATORY

Combined to Make a Delightful Evening for the Magnificent Audience in Attendance—It All Passed Off Without a Break, and the Dear Graduates Are Now Well Started Through the Tortuous Path of Life—What They Said.

Commencement is over, and class of '95 has already started on that long and tedious pathway, the journey of life.

The Grand Opera House was ablaze with beauty and fashion last night when the curtain rose before revealing a glimpse of what might well be construed as fairland. But before that hour the people had been flocking to the scene and the building never before knew such a crowd as had gathered in the spacious auditorium when the moment for opening arrived. Some came in carriages, others knew no better vehicle than the street car, but the great majority walked, for the air was balmy and their wear was no fear that the dainty draperies of the fashionable costumes would suffer from contact with it. Within the theater was gathered the finest audience ever seen within its comfortable confines. The boxes were filled, all the chairs down stairs occupied, the gallery was crowded with the exception of a few seats in the highest portion, but there were a sufficient number standing to have filled them twice over. The delay always necessary to make a commencement complete was passed through without a murmur of objection from the audience, but at length all was ready. Miss Tillie Walters, the accompanist, occupied her place at the piano, and the curtain went slowly upward. It revealed a vision of beauty. Flanked by the choir stood the happy members of the graduating class, monotony of pure white gowns being relieved here and there by bits of color, and the brilliancy of flowers. The song rendered immediately after the invocation of Reverend Reinartz was a stirring one, and at its close the chorus marched out with precision, while the class took their positions on the stage, which was arrayed in all the taste of the stage-manager's skill, presenting a beautiful appearance. In the center a fountain stood, the sparkling water falling into a basin surrounded by nodding daisies and scarlet fuschias, while a stately lily lifted gracefully its head among its less pretentious neighbors. As the water fell, its spray covered the flowers and reflected back the brilliancy of half an hundred incandescent lights, artfully concealed among the foliage. The setting was a garden scene, and the rustic benches each bore the old rose and green, the colors of the class, the whole presenting a scene that drew loud applause from the audience. On the stage were seated the class, Superintendent Sanor, Reverend Reinartz, Professor Gottschall, Miss Bertha McVay and Miss Flo Updegraff. The audience were given ample time to note the pretty effect of the setting before Miss Gerturde Agner stepped from among her classmates, and read her essay, the subject being "Bells," taking her hearers through scenes suggested by the subject, and brought out thoughts suggested by the ringing of the bells that were as pleasing as they were beautiful. The paper covered a scope which could only be reached by a young lady with ideas, and good ideas, too. So carefully were the scenes painted, the mellow tones of the peaceful bells or the clanking sound of the loud alarm, that it seemed really to come from the metallic heralds.

Superintendent Sanor here explained that illness prevented Miss Grace Faulk from filling her part of the program, a matter of deep regret not alone to her classmates, but to her many friends in the audience. As if to atone for her absence a quartet of young ladies, Misses Mayme Adams, Bernice Dunlap, Edith McCord and Cora Dawson, rendered in a delightful manner the "Concert Waltz," the ladies doing ample justice to the pretty selection. Following them came Miss Sara J. Hall, who told of a "Noted Maid." With a sincerity which developed into oratory Miss Hall carried her hearers back to the days of the thirteenth century, when France was bleeding under a weight of oppression and a brave heart and strong arm was needed to free it from its oppressors. Miss Hall touched upon the early days of the Maid of Orleans, and recalled the hours when she guarded her flock, never dreaming of the time when with sword and buckler she would ride at the head of an army, fighting for the cause and country she loved so well. The victories of Joan of Arc and her tragic death, together with a scholarly tribute to the heroism and devotion of the Maid, closed the paper, the young lady having covered her subject in a manner at once entertaining and truthful.

"Gleanings From the Rocks" was the subject chosen by Miss Lina Joseph, and the comprehensive manner in which she brought out the wonders of geology clearly demonstrated that it is her favorite study. In the great rocks of every country and clime she saw the presence of a God who created for all time, and whose power was as firm as the great masses of stone to which it could be likened. She brought the subject down through prehistoric times, showing the presence of man when he was ignorant, and necessity had not driven him to invention for pleasure and comfort. She delved into the strata of the earth, and there found evidence which she supported by the utterances of great theologians that the making of the earth was not the work of a day. Following the fall of man the young lady touched upon the Darwinian theory, scoring the argument of a missing link in language which left no doubt as to her convictions, and leaving the audience after a plain but comprehensive argument of her belief. The ground covered was more than is ordinarily found in a commencement essay, and gave room for the belief that it was the outgrowth of careful study and research.

The next number of the program was a solo by Miss Mayme Adams, and the young lady's sweet voice pleasantly gave all the beauty that can be found in "What Shall I Do." The notes had scarcely ceased to sound when Miss Agnes Kleinogel walked to the front of the stage, and told of a "Second Thought." The subject was handled in a logical manner, the reasoning being so clear that not one in the great audience could miss a thread in the web of thought. It gave the speaker no opportunity for oratory; none was needed. To her mind the sober, second thought was one of the essentials of success, and she said it with ample proofs of common sense to prove her words. To think and judge for one's self is the object of education, while storing the mind with plain facts is a requisite not to be lost in the grand rush for honor. The second thought comes into play when an occupation for life is chosen; even aspiring genius being compelled to bow to its wondrous influence. Things are not what they seem, and the first impression is not always lasting. In the choice of association it came into play, and there was always a necessity for guarding against a failure to use. The essay reflected credit upon the speaker's powers of observation as well as upon her abilities to reason.

"All the world loves a lover," said Miss Evelyn Ogilvie, as she took her place before the audience after Miss Kleinogel had gracefully bowed herself from the audience and had received flattering applause. Her story was the tearful tale of Evangeline, and the beauty of Longfellow's masterpiece was not lost in the carefully prepared paper read by the young lady. She told it in words which showed familiarity not only with the tale as it is given by the immortal author, but with the style which marks every stanza of the production. At no time was any portion so drawn out as to cause the audience to lose interest, but on the contrary it was entertaining and instructive. The paper was long, but so is the story, and Miss Ogilvie could not have done better had she missed any of the pathetic and beautiful parts of the poem. It was an effort well worthy the loud applause which noted the end of the essay.

Miss Walters was at the piano when the chorus took its place on the stage, reinforced by Professor Gottschall with the violin. Mr. Stoddard with the cornet and Mr. Blackmore with the trombone. The piece was from the ever pleasing "Martha," and was rendered with such pleasing effect that the approbation from the audience was loud and long. Again the chorus marched away with precision, and Mr. Harry M. Smith delivered an oration on "The Race Problem." He quoted two statesmen of national reputation on the settlement of the problem, and then, from the standpoint of a negro, showed the utter uselessness of their plans. Moving the negro to Africa he characterized as preposterous, since the government could not lawfully appropriate money for this purpose; that would be class legislation, and they could not live under the severity of the climate. At the opening of the Rebellion he saw the colored man degraded and ignorant, but now he was adjusting himself to new conditions, and had already made wonderful progress. Through education he had acquired wealth, and there was in his heart a deep and lasting love of God. He disclaimed any desire on the part of the negro for social equality. There never was a time when he did not have people of his color with whom he could associate. While his advancement was contested at every point, while he was mobbed and lynched, he was still remarkable for his thrift and for his love of progress. They would remain in this country. It was their home. Their fathers had fought and died for freedom, their sacrifice had been placed on the altar of freedom. In it they have successfully acquired distinction as soldiers, statesmen and politicians. Their star of hope is even now on the horizon; all they needed was patience, and the day was not far distant when they would be as respected as any. The oration was a splendid effort, and was loudly applauded by any member of the class.

Miss Eleanor Simms began her essay on "Memorial Day" in a manner so earnest that her opinions could not be misunderstood. She showed her hearers a battlefield at night, the dead, the wounded and the blood. She took them to Andersonville after she had noted the causes of the civil war, and described the awful scenes enacted during the life of the prison pen. She styled it the Siberia of America, and arraigned the Confederate government for the inhuman barbarities practiced upon Union soldiers, and then brought forward her subject, showing how it was not a national holiday, although legalized in many states. "We are making it Decoration Day when it should be Memorial Day," she said. The people are enjoying it as a day of public amusement when it should be held sacred in memory of the soldier dead. She arraigned President Cleveland for his disregard of the day by going fishing, and pointed out that there was no wonder the people failed to honor the day with flowers of respect. "Myriads of forts bristling with cannon will not protect the nation as does Memorial Day." Then the chorus sang, the "Star Spangled Banner," a fitting tribute to the patriotic essay of Miss Simms. Miss Tillie Walters immediately afterward rendered a piano selection from "Queen Esther" with all the strength of her musical training. It was splendidly given, and showed that the young lady had not been neglecting other portions of her education while poring over the commonplace studies of the high school. The diplomas were presented by Superintendent Sanor with the simple remark that it was in behalf of the board of education, and the class had earned them. As a fitting ending to a commencement that will ever stand in the front rank of similar events in the city, came "Italia," from the opera "Lucetia," by a portion of the chorus. Nothing more can be said of it than that it was splendidly given. The benediction was pronounced by Reverend Reinartz, and the commencement of the class of '95 had passed into history.

For Shooting Fish.

John Grim is having his trial at city hall this afternoon for shooting fish in Beaver creek. Squire Rose and a jury composed of H. L. Simms, H. McFall, Barney Peterson, John Harvey, Edward and Frank Dickey, George Grosshans, B. R. Little, George and Martin Bough, John W. Wyman, Thomas Pickall, Sawyer and Jefferson Smith proved witnesses who had to be called down by the court for refusing to answer questions. They testified that Green shot a sucker because it was destroying nests of bass. Ed and Bert Green were absent, presumably on account of illness, but Constable Albright claims it was because they knew he was going away.

Wellington Confessed.

When Turnkey Bick was in town today he said that Thomas Wellington, who is in town charged with larceny, had made a confession. Wellington said that Jacob Bartel, in whose employ he was, had been throwing money around on the floor, and he had picked up $22.50. He was going to return it to his employer, but was tempted by another man and they went out and spent it. Wellington will be allowed to plead guilty.

A Correction.

The NEWS REVIEW erred yesterday in announcing the marriage of Mr. Ansel Berry and Miss Dickey, and cheerfully makes the correction, the young lady's name not appearing in the item yesterday.

A Heavy Dose For McGoggin.

Lisbon, May 25.—Saloonist McGoggin, of this place, who was convicted of selling liquor to a minor was given $50 and costs today with five days in jail.

NEXT MEMORIAL DAY

How It Will Be Observed In This City.

FORMATION OF THE COLUMN

The Line of March—Judge Martin Will Speak In the Grand Opera House, and the Procession Will Move to the Cemetery Afterward—It Is All In the Afternoon.

At the meeting of the Grand Army last night it was decided to have all the orders taking part in Memorial Day assemble at their halls at 1 o'clock and march to the Grand Opera House where Hon. G. M. Martin will deliver the address. The procession will form at 2:30 on Market street, right resting on Fourth, under Commander J. C. Allison, Thomas Lloyd, chief of staff, an aid being chosen from each order represented. Here is the order:

Squad of police.
Haynes' Band.
Gun Squad.
General Lyon Post.
Old Soldiers.
Sons of Veterans.
O. U. A. M.
Jr. O. U. A. M.
Knights of the Golden Eagle.
Turkverien.
Rehabites.
Patriotic Sons of America.
Orator of the Day and Escort.
Mayor and Council.
Fire Department.
School Children.

The route of procession is Market to Third, to Broadway, to Fifth, to cemetery. There the orders will march in open order, forming on two sides of the mound, halting to allow the children to pass through and deposit flowers on the mound. The order of exercises is the ritual of the Grand Army, followed by the strewing of flowers.

In Wellsville.

Memorial Day will be observed in Wellsville by a parade of the Grand Army, secret societies and General Lyon post of East Liverpool. General Ryley will have charge of the ceremonies, and in the evening an entertainment will be held in city hall, the program for which is as follows:

Cornet solo..... Prof. Braven
Music..... Double Quartet
Prayer..... Rev. H. W. Lowry
Music..... Double Quartet
Reading..... Rev. J. A. Selby Solo..... Miss Minnie Cope Oration..... Judge J. A. Martin Recitation..... Miss Anne Jenkins Benediction..... Reverend Little.

HARRY HUGHES SPEAKS.

Mr. Hughes Takes Issue With the President of the Liquor League.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—In your issue of yesterday, C. A. Hutcheson, president of the Liquor Dealers' association, takes it upon himself to cast a scornful fling at your humble servant, an account of my failure to connect myself with the association of liquor dealers, and indulges in sarcastic utterances against me, which I do not deem it worth while to here enumerate. I am engaged in a legal business, having secured license at the hands of the law. 'Tis true that I have sold illegally on one occasion, and was arrested for so doing, but paid the penalty promptly and resolved to never again transgress, and shall keep this resolve to the letter. I only hope that members of the association in this city have as clean skirts as myself in this particular. Can they honestly and truthfully assert that they adhere strictly to the law under which their license was given them. 'Twould be amusing to me to listen to their answers, in the light of my own experience. Be this as it may, I despise the man who made the gentlemanly and uncalled for flings at me in your yesterday's issue, and shall convince the public at large that my business shall be carried on in conformity with law. I pay my honest debts and always will, and this is more than can be truthfully said of my detractors.

HARRY HUGHES.

Some Assignments.

Lisbon, May 25.—Two assignments were made this morning, one for Judge Taylor and the other for Judge Billingsley. Among the East Liverpool cases are J. D. West against the street railway, M. D. Martin against the same, and C. McKenna against the same defendant. They will be heard on June 12. W. E. Cooper against Harrison Rinehart will be heard Friday of the same week, while the case of R. P. Wright against John Wyman will be heard June 6.

Caught the Buggy.

A little child of Robert Price, Third street, had a narrow escape from an accident Thursday evening. The little one was in a baby carriage and had been left standing near the corner of Third and Market streets. The grade was such that the carriage when rocked slightly by the child started toward Market street and turning the corner was rapidly going down the hill when William Arthur observed the child's danger and running out grabbed the buggy. The child was saved from what might have proved a fatal accident.

TO TRADES COUNCIL.

Reverend Whitehead Delivers an Excellent Address.

Reverend Whitehead talked to 150 members of Trades Council, the address dealing directly with the cause in which they are interested. The gentleman covered the ground in a scholarly manner, telling the council that he was not there to flatter them but to give his opinions, and he gave them. He showed the necessity of improved conditions for the workingmen, and pointed out the necessity of Christian men and Christian methods, ending with the words "May our faith in God and one another stimulate us to greater exertions for man's common weal, so that we may in God's hand bring about the day of better things, when righteousness will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea."

THEY SCORE HIM.

A Resident of McKinnon's Addition Is Catching It.

People living in McKinnon's addition are complaining loudly of a neighbor who illtreats his motherless children. They say that he took one from school and made her work in a pottery, while he has taken up with a notorious woman and their actions have scandalized the neighborhood. One child told a story to their friends, which, if true, should put the inhuman father behind the bars. It is also stated that he has taken the money earned by his child, and used it to buy whisky. Neighbors hope that this will reach his ears, and he will reform before they take action.

Gained a Concession.

At the meeting of the Ceramic City Cycle club last night a letter was read from Superintendent Andrews, of the street railway. The company have been charging wheelmen 25 cents for carrying bicycles, but now propose to make the charge 10 cents. In order to obtain this rate the rider must show the motorman his membership card in the club, duly signed by the proper officials. This concession from the street railway is but one of the practical benefits which the bicycle club hopes to gain for its members. Other business of importance was transacted last night.

A Good Resolve.

In looking over some old books the other day Col. W. H. Vodrey found a copy of the Atlantic Monthly dated Nov. 6, 1860, on which was written by his father these words:

"I am hoping for a fine shine toward noon, while I can take my vote down to the box to be given for Abraham Lincoln. It is a rare chance to vote for an honest man for president."

Mr. Vodrey was taken to the polls in a carriage, and never left home afterward, dying in February of the next year.

The Children's Last Day.

Mrs. Whitehead treated the children of her kindergarten to a delightful picnic in the country yesterday, allowing them to play on the grass, feed the pigs and chickens and improve their acquaintance with the cows and horses. She feels very much encouraged over the result of the year's work, and wishes to thank those who have given her patronage.

Hanged Himself.

Salem, May 25.—The dead body of David Frazier, for 15 years the janitor at the First National bank, was found hanging in the building, the man having been dead for several hours. Last week he took a dose of poison, but was saved by a physician. He was a widower, and left two daughters.

Had a Trip Anyway.

The excursion on the steamer Water Maiden last night failed to materialize, but Captain Anshutz gave a few friends a pleasant trip down the river on the barge, returning about 8:30 o'clock.

Oscar Is Guilty.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.
New York, May 25.—A cablegram from London this morning says that the jury found Oscar Wilde guilty. He has not yet been sentenced.

Patrol Station Sold.

Ollie Manley brought the patrol station this afternoon, paying $22 for the stables and $16 for the station. There were only a few bidders.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, MAY 25.

For President, WILLIAM MCKINLEY, OF OHIO.

The Salineville Banner announces editorially that the house of an ex-mayor is being painted. Perhaps the paint is so thin that the editor felt in duty bound to express an opinion in order that the community might know where he stands.

WOMEN ON WHEELS.

Some physician, prominent they say, pours this into the literary hopper for the benefit of women who fear to ride a bicycle:

"There is no reason to think that a healthy woman can be injured by riding a wheel, provided she does not overexert herself by riding too long a time, or too fast, or up too steep hills; and provided she does not ride when common sense and physiology alike forbid any needless exertion; and provided also she does not get the bad habit of stooping over the handle bar; and there is reason, not merely to think, but to know, that many women are greatly benefited by the exercise.
There are certain anatomical and physiological peculiarities which make it far more dangerous for a woman than for a man to undergo excessive physical strain; but if she be careful to avoid strain, cycling is both beneficial and safe for any woman who is free from organic disease."

ONE INDICATION.

The large attendance at the high school commencement exercises last evening serves to show the deep interest manifested by the general public in the welfare of the young people who are now, so far as their Alma Mater is concerned, well started on that mysterious road they so elo-quently describe as the path of life.
Doubtless some were present to see new gowns and wonder who made them; others were there to hear the music and oratory, and a few to compare an East Liverpool commencement with the way they do it in other towns of our importance. These things are to be expected in ordinary life. But the great mass were in attendance because they are interested in the public schools, and realize the importance of showing their appreciation at every possible opportunity.
To many of them the schools are as much of an every day part of their life as are their daily duties. Their children and the children of their friends are educated and prepared for work in these schools, their money goes to support them, and they owe it as a duty to uphold and praise them at every opportunity. The Republic is safe as long as the graduation of a high school class will attract such audiences as that at the Grand last evening.

WILL POKE HIS NOSE.

Corbett Angry at Fitzsimmons' Failure to Attend a Conference.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Bob Fitzsimmons, the pugilist, did not appear in the Coleman house to attend the meeting to which he and James J. Corbett had been summoned by Joseph H. Ven-dig, representative of the Florida Athletic club, under whose auspices the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight was arranged to take place. When Corbett found that Fitzsimmons did not intend to appear, and that he had not paid the $5,000 deposit guaranteeing his appearance in the ring, Corbett said: "I am here and willing to fight in any part of the United States. My money is up, and I want no bluffing. I am ready to go into training at Ashbury park today." Fitzsimmons boasted in Chicago that he would pummel my nose, if the fight did not come off, but denied having used the expression when I asked him about it later. Now I want him to go on record as saying that if this fight is called off, I will poke his nose at first sight."

Wouldn't Take Strikers' Places.

POCAHONTAS, Va., May 25.—The 26 men brought to Chambers, W. Va., from Roanoke, Va., to work in the mines, upon learning of the strike refused to work. Lawless was sent for, and had a conference with Governor McCorkle's private secretary, when it was agreed to explain the situation to the new men and the old miners. Mr. Lawless advised the men to be peaceful, but to hold out for an advance, and the enforcement of the mining laws of the state.

Wilkinson Makes a Plea.

GALESBURG, Ills., May 25.—The convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has heard the charges of neglect of duty against Grand Master S.
E. Wilkinson, during the three months he was in California. He made a statement in defense, admitting he had been guilty of indiscretions, and had not looked after the affairs of the brotherhood as he should. Many in the convention are inclined to deal leniently with him.

Evicting Settlers From Indian Land.

PENDER, Neb., May 25.—Indian Agent Beck has positively commenced the eviction of settlers occupying the lands of the Flournoy company, on the Winnebago reservation. O. E. Anderson, Peter Blume and William Berg, residing in the vicinity of Wakefield, Neb., have been removed by 16 Indian police, armed to the teeth. Captain Beck has served notice that other settlers must go and will continue evictions today.

Consul Marries a Native Girl.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Advices from Tahiti bring the intelligence of the marriage there of United States Consul Jacob Lamb Doty of New York to a half caste native girl named Manon Tameo Raural, aged 16. What makes this marriage peculiar is that young Doty did not call in a missionary to tie the knot, but was wedded after the native fashion.

Griffo Taken to Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, May 25.—"Young Griffo," the pugilist, has been brought from Philadelphia, where he was arrested, to Brooklyn and locked up in the Adams Street Police station. He was arraigned before Judge Moore in the court of sessions this morning. The maximum penalty for "Young Griffo's" offence is 20 years imprisonment.

80,000 Children Parade.

BROOKLYN, May 25.—Eighty thousand children, representing 186 Sunday-schools or 12 divisions, paraded in Brooklyn, in honor of the sixtieth anniversary of the Brooklyn Sixth-School union. The parade was reviewed by ex-President Harrison, Prince Francis Joseph of Battenberg and other notables.

Will Show Cleveland's Picture.

NEW YORK, May 25.—President Cleveland's portrait will illuminate the night during the festivities attending the opening of the Baltic ship canal. It will be shown in pyrotechnics from the yard arm of the cruiser New York at Kiel, and at the same time a fiery portrait of Emperor William II will be displayed.

Gail Hamilton's Condition.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—There is no change of note in the condition of Miss Mary A. Dodge (Gail Hamilton). She was conscious for a few minutes and spoke to those around her. She is a little easier, though has again lapsed into unconsciousness.

Refused to Indict Gordon.

LOUISVILLE, May 25.—The Jefferson county grand jury has refused to indict Fulton Gordon for the double killing of his wife and Arch Brown, son of Kentucky's governor, whom Gordon found in a bedroom together four weeks ago.

Married His Assistant.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Attorney General A. G. Haskell of Montana and Miss Ella L. Knowles, the assistant attorney general of the same state, have been married at the Palace hotel.

The Presbyterian Assembly Taking a Rest.

WINE USED AT COMMUNION.

It Caused One of the Liveliest Discussions That Has Occurred In This Assembly—Unfermented Wine Recommended—To Wipe Out the Debt.

PITTSBURG, May 25.—The commissioners of the Presbyterian general assembly are enjoying an excursion today —a carriage ride through Schenley park and the East End.

The report of the committee on temperance has provoked probably the liveliest discussion during the assembly.

The Rev. Ezra B. Newcomb of Logansport, Ind., chairman of the committee on temperance, read his report. He said:
"The difference between temperance teachers and advocates have been the disgrace of the cause, and the time has come when such differences and quarrels must be sunk if this young nation is to be saved from intemperance." Among the recommendations was one urging that everything be done to keep drinkers out of government, state and municipal offices. It is urged that preventive measures ought to be tried against the drink traffic. The report was adopted.

Elder George Irwin of Allegheny, secretary of the temperance committee, made a long speech, in which it was mentioned that the work was crippled for want of funds. He advocated "stopping this curse by eternal prohibition."

Dr. Page thought there should have been a deliverance in the report on the subject of communion wine. This was received with great applause. He urged the elders and ministers to go home and urge the carrying out of the resolutions in the report.

The most drastic resolution offered was one urging that all voters in the communion of the Presbyterian church vote against the granting of liquor licenses, which was carried.

There was quite a verbal tussle about the use of fermented wine at communion.
One speaker held that the use of it ought to be made a misdemeanor.
Another urged that unfermented wine be used. Dr. Dickinson of Scranton said: "We are wily old men on this subject. Christ knew what was wine, and used it as a symbol."

Things were getting lively, and speakers were bobbing up all over the house.
"Fermented" and "unfermented" were wished to be stricken from a resolution offered by Dr. Page. Ultimately the moderator had to interfere. Elder Sterry spoke gravely to the assembly on the gravity of the subject. Mr. Austin of Baltimore moved that "unfermented wine" be stricken from the resolution.
Such a squabble and tangle has not been seen since the assembly opened, and no one seemed to know just how the trouble bobbed up so quickly and so bitterly. Dr. Dickinson of Philadelphia ended it by offering an amendment to leave the compelling clause out of Dr.
Page's resolution. The resolution as adopted is: "Whereas, It is the wish of the church of Jesus Christ to avoid all appearance of evil, and as it is generally believed that danger lies in the use of fermented wine at the communion, it is the sense of this assembly that the unfermented fruit of the vine fulfills every condition in observing the sacrament."

Dr. Adams of Minnesota, chairman of the committee on church polity, read a partial report, which was mostly routine. Some discussion took place on the vexed question of "stated supply."
The report was adopted.
Proceeding this squabble, Dr. Mc-Ewan of the Third church took the floor and read the following resolutions, which were adopted unanimously:
"First—That we request of Dr. Roberts that he supply a copy of his speech on 'The Growth of Presbyterianism During the Past Twenty-five Years,' for publication, and that it be issued as a supplement to The Assembly Herald, for general distribution throughout the church."
"Second—That an anniversary fund of $1,000,000 be raised."
"Third—That as during the past 25 years the church has contributed $47,- 000,000 for the use of missions, and as there is still a debt of $600,000 on these boards, the first monies received be divided pro rata between the churches toward paying off this debt."
"Fourth—That a committee of 15 ministers and 11 elders be appointed by the moderator to carry through the scheme."
"Fifth—That Dr. W. H. Roberts be appointed treasurer of the proposed fund, and be empowered to use such clerical help as is necessary. All expenses to be borne by the fund."

"Sixth—That all acknowledgments of contributions be made through the columns of The Assembly Herald." Dr. McEwan explained that Dr. Roberts was the treasurer of the famous ministerial relief fund, and peculiarly fitted to look after this fund.

Dr. Hubbard, speaking about the resolutions in an explanatory way to the assembly, said: "The chairman and secretaries of the two mission boards are heartily in accord with this scheme, which will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of the church by wiping out the debt of $600,000 and so the church will be able to start with a clean slate."

The committee on bills and overtures recommended that the proposal for a triennial assembly be inexpedient. Some discussion took place in favor of annual meetings. The consensus of opinion was that the needs relating to the government of the church required the assemblage of its chief body at least once a year. The vote on the question showed a vast majority against a change.

At this juncture a delegation of six from the United Presbyterian assembly came into the church and business was suspended.

THE U. P. ASSEMBLY.

Home Missions Under Consideration Today—Report on Church Unity.

PITTSBURG, May 25.—The United Presbyterian general assembly is considering today the question of home missions. Moderator McMichael presides with becoming dignity.

One of the most important reports submitted so far is that on church union.
It was conveyed in the report of the committee read by Dr. Reed, appointed to confer with the commissioners from the Holland Reformed church, looking toward union. The report showed the progress that has thus far been made by the committee to the joint conference. The specifications are as follows:

First—The substantial agreement of the two churches in doctrine, government and worship is mutually recognized.

Second—There are practicable difficulties in the way which render the organic union of the two churches unadvisable for the present.

Third—On the ground of the large measure of unity in faith and order existing between these sister denominations, a plan of co-operation, embracing the succeeding articles, is approved and accepted: (a) There shall be an interchange constantly of fraternal delegates between the supreme judicatories of the two churches; (b) whenever the missionaries in the two churches may exchange pulpits, and the proper officers in any vacant congregation may invite to occupy their pulpits any minister or probationer of the other denomination who is in good standing in his own church; (c) congregations in each body shall have the liberty of calling as pastor a minister or probationer from the other church, this to be done in accordance with the regulations of the church from which he is called; (d) certificates of membership from the congregations of either church shall be accepted in the congregations of the other, just as sessions and consistory within each body respectively honor the certificates of their own denomination, and members shall be received to participation in ordinances, on the understanding that organic union is distinctly in view;

(e) co-operation in foreign missionary work shall be engaged in as follows:

A duly authorized representative from the Holland Christian Reformed church shall be admitted to the United Presbyterian board of foreign missions as a consultative member. Missionaries of the two churches tendered may be appointed from the Holland Christian Reformed church by the United Presbyterian board of foreign missions to the foreign field, it being understood that the appointee shall become fully identified with the United Presbyterian church, and shall be subject to all the rules and regulations governing the foreign missionaries of that church.

In pursuance of the foregoing missionary arrangements opportunity is given the Holland Christian Reformed church to make optional contributions through the board of foreign missions of the United Presbyterian church to the furtherance of the work administered by that board. This declaration of conventional agreement between the two churches is made, and this cooperation is undertaken in the confident hope that the way for organic union between the two denominations will open up, under the blessings of God, in the near future.

Recommendations for action are as follows:

First—That the draft of the basis of co-operative union herein reported be adopted, the understanding being that it shall become effective when duly ratified by the synod of the Holland Christian Reformed church.

Second—That, inasmuch as the synod of the Holland Christian Reformed church does not meet until 1896, the committee on union be continued with instructions to negotiate concerning any additional propositions that may be presented.

Third—That a delegate be appointed to represent our church in the Holland synod of next year.

Fourth—That the board of publication be directed to furnish every minister in this sister church with a copy of our Confession of Faith, Catechism Testimony and Book of Government and Discipline.

Dr. John McNaughton, who presented the report, moved that the discussion of the question of union with the Holland church be made the first order for the session of next Tuesday afternoon.
The motion was adopted.

The committee on correspondence offered a partial report. It announced the presence of Rev. Francesco Rostan, a representative of the Waldensian church, as a fraternal delegate to the assembly. Dr. Rostan made a speech.

Dr. McMichael then gave a brilliant eulogy of the Waldensian church.

The report of the permanent committee on reform was taken up and showed little advance in the field, on the great question of temperance, reform and other themes. The hosts of evils are more luring than ever before. Modern issues are being eliminated from the political and civil domain. Political corruption is increasing at an alarming pace. The prospect seems to be brightening for the church. The various institutions and societies of the church are awakening to the evil in our midst. The report was referred to the committee on reform, consisting of Revs. Messrs.
McCrary, Robinson and Little of this city.

Rev. J. G. Carson, D. D., of Xenia, O., presented a paper in which he said that he desired to change his protest against the action of the assembly of 1883, in permitting instrumental music in the church. Dr. Carson explained his reasons for his refusal thus far to support the action in allowing instrumental music, and said it had come to a point where he must consider whether he would withdraw from the church.
Dr. Carson said that his personal views had prevented him from participating in the services of Wednesday evening and on other similar occasions. He said: "I must either go out of the church or take the other step. I feel it my duty to remain in the church and take part in the worship of the church.
I, therefore, have decided to change my former protest into a dissent."

Rev. H. H. Brown moved that the request to remain, under dissent, be granted. The resolution was adopted.

No Danger of War.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Senator Calvo, the Costa Rican representative here, says that the reports of probable war between Costa Rica and Nicaragua are groundless, according to advices received by him. He says the boundary question is the only one on which the governments differ. This, he says, is a subject of peaceful, diplomatic adjustment.

Wheat Takes a Drop.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Wheat's upward movement has received another black eye and the bears felt better than at any time since the rise started. July sold as low as 79 cents, rallied a trifle, and closed nervous at 79 1/2 cents.

The Markets Refuse to Be Affected by Wheat.

DAMAGE REPORTS EXAGGERATED.

Some Injury Done, But Not to the Extent Claimed—The Iron Industry Shows Distinct Gains—Better Wages Cause the Prices to Rise—The Failures.

NEW YORK, May 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade issued today says: If wheat has been so greatly injured by the snows and frosts in May that the sudden rise of 12 cents in two weeks is justified, the calamity will effect all business prospects. The markets do not believe it, for stocks do not collapse, iron leather and hides, still rise, and no holders of wheat would sell at 80 cents, a lower price than had been known at this season for 30 years prior to 1893, if current reports were credited. Some injury has undoubtedly been sustained, but our own dispatches do not show that it is really serious. The temper is to buy, regardless of visible requirements, in the faith that prices are sure to rise.

Western receipts of wheat for three weeks have been larger than last year in spite of storms and frosts, but the rise has practically stopped, buying for export as the similar rise did in April, 1884, which was followed by about the lowest price then ever known. Whether grain has been greatly injured or not, foreign markets will take early occasion to fortify themselves from other sources. The week's sales here have amounted to 155,000,000 bushels, and accounts of damage by frost and by insects are so mixed up that some traders infer the bugs must wear overcoats. Corn rose 3 1/2 cents during the week, though much of the corn killed may be replanted; pork rose 30 cents per barrel, and 5 cents per 100 pounds, and oats 4 cents.

The iron industry distinctly gains, and the improvement is no longer confined to prices of materials. Better wages at and west of Pittsburgh continue, buyers that prices must rise, and there have been larger sales of finished products, with about $1 per ton better prices for structural forms and steel bars, while Bessemer pig has risen to $11.50 at Pittsburgh. The Thomas company has advanced its anthracite pig 50 cents, and higher freights made southern cost more at the east. Sales of rails to May 1 were 420,000 tons, and deliveries 250,000, both larger than last year. Nail works are combining, and a coke pool is expected to raise prices soon. Pittsburgh banks note withdrawals for payrolls in the past month of $2,383,397, against $1,865,818 last year by the same works.

Orders this year number 22,029 freight and 72 passenger cars, 5,000 more than in the whole year 1894, but in previous years the output was over 35,000 freight cars. Anthracite coal is decidedly stronger and copper very firm at 10 1/2 cents for lake, though the April output was about 2,500 tons larger than that of January.

Failures during the past week have been 207 in the United States, against 183 last year, and 23 in Canada, against 28 last year.

THE BOILING SCALE.

It Is Under Consideration by the Amalgamated Convention at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, May 25.—Secretary Kilgallon states that the Amalgamated convention has been devoting time to the consideration of the boiling scale. Very little progress has been made on the question.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates marched to the foot of Superior street and embarked on the steamer State of Ohio and enjoyed a lake excursion as the guests of the local Amalgamated lodges.

One of the delegates stated it would be a week or possibly ten days before the various scales were all passed upon.

IT EFFECTS MILLIONS.

Important Decision in the Youngstown Municipal Bonds Case.

CLEVELAND, May 25.—Judge Ricks, sitting in the United States court, has handed down a decision which establishes an important precedent and indirectly affects millions of dollars' worth of municipal bonds issued on the authority of special legislation and not authorized by a popular vote of the people living in the town or city by which the bonds are issued. The case was that of the German-American Investment company of New York against the city of Youngstown. The investment company was the highest bidder for $180,000 worth of water bonds authorized by the city administration and afterward approved by a special act of the legislature.

Later the investment company refused to accept the bonds on the ground that they were not authorized by a two-thirds vote of the citizens of Youngstown, as required by the statutes of Ohio. The case was then taken into court by the investment company suing the city of Youngstown to recover $3,500 deposited as a bond. The court decides in favor of the investment company and holds that the city had not met with the requirements of the constitution, and that the general assembly in passing an act giving Youngstown authority to issue bonds had violated that part of the constitution which says the general assembly shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers.

Bonds issued without a two-thirds vote of the people are practically declared to be worthless. It is said that millions of dollars' worth of bonds have been issued by various towns and cities throughout the state which will be affected by this decision. Another phase of the case is the possibility of such bonds being redeemed. Such redemption could be restrained by any taxpayer on the grounds that the act by which they were issued was unconstitutional.

Baldwin Opposed to Gambling.

CINCINNATI, May 25.—Lucky Baldwin of California is at the Grand. He speaks right out about gamblers owning race tracks and shaping races to suit the purses of gamblers. He says they make short gambles, whereas no horse over 2 years old should run less distance than a mile. This sort of business prevails in San Francisco, in Louisville, in Chicago and at Latonia, all of which places gamblers dominate. He predicts that the state legislatures will wipe out bookmaking and that very soon. He considers Halma and Roy El Cereides the great 3-year-olds this year, and intends to see that his Key El Cereides shall try conclusions with Halma next June. He says Roy El Santa Anita was put out of shape for the Brooklyn handicap by imprudent exercise before that event.

A Catholic Salvation Army.

CLEVELAND, May 25.—Catholic missionary workers are about to start a movement of the greatest importance among the masses of population in this city. It might be called a Catholic Salvation Army movement, except that some of the odd features of the Salvation Army will be omitted. The missionaries have the endorsement of Bishop Horstmann of this diocese to the plan of street work, and meetings will soon be begun on the street corners and curbs. An organization will be formed, and as soon as practicable will be made national and extended to all the greater cities of the country. So enthusiastic are the local Catholic clergy that several will resign from their parishes to engage in the street work.

An Advance In Wages.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 25.—The Ohio Steel company of this city has advanced the wages of all employees, over 1,000 in number, 10 per cent. The action was voluntarily on the part of the company. With the laborers, the advance dates back to May 13 last, and with skilled workmen it will begin on June 1. The news is received with great rejoicing by the men.

McKinley Will Speak In Chicago.

COLUMBUS, May 25.—Governor McKinley has accepted the invitation of the Illinois State Trade and Labor assembly to deliver an address to the labor demonstration in Chicago, July 4. He has received word that Vice President Stevenson will also be present.

Ex-Judge Morris Sentenced.

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 25.—Ex-Police Judge C. E. Morris has been sentenced to six years in the penitentiary for forgery and embezzlement.

Extending Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—It is understood that the president has approved a recommendation made by the civil service commission for the extension of the classified service to sundry positions in the agricultural department. The civil service rules now apply to certain extent in the department, but there were various offices which the commission thought ought to be filled by competitive examination.

Price of Bread Increased.

KANSAS CITY, May 25.—All the bakers in Kansas City, Kan., have notified the retail dealers that beginning today the price of bread would be advanced. It has been retailed to consumers at three leaves for a dime and as cheap as two for 5 cents. It cannot now be sold for less than 5 cents per loaf by the retail dealer.

A DEMOCRATIC FEAST.

Notables Banquet and Talk In New York.

CLEVELAND SENT A LETTER

In Which He Touched Up the Free Silver Element—Senator Hill Expresses Happiness Over Income Tax Defeat and Talks on the Monetary Question.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The two days' stay of the Democratic editors came to an end last night, when a banquet was tendered them at Delmonico's. The banquet hall was taxed to its full capacity, covers being laid for 250. Colonel William L. Brown played the role of toastmaster.

Near him at the table were Mayor J. W. Hinkley of Poughkeepsie and ex-Mayor Gilroy. Others at the main table were: John Boya Thatcher, Collector Kilbreth, Comptroller Fitch, Cord Meyer, Charles S. Fairchild, Senator Hill, Comptroller of Currency Eckels, ex-Governor Flower and Senator Carter. After the banquet, Colonel Brown, in a witty speech, introduced John A. Mason, who then read a letter from President Cleveland, which evoked tumultuous applause. After expressing regret at his inability to be present, the president, in his letter, said:

"When a campaign is actively on foot to force the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver by the government, at a ratio which will add to our circulation unrestrained millions of so-called dollars, intrinsically worth but half the amount they purport to represent, with no provision or resource to make good any deficiency in value, and when it is claimed that such a proposition has any relation to the principles of democracy, it is time for all who may in the least degree influence Democratic thought to realize the responsibility."

"Our party is the party of the people, not because it is wafted hither and thither by every sudden gust of public opinion, but because, while it tests every proposition by the doctrines which underlie its organization, it insists that all interests should be defended in the administration of the government, without especial favor or discrimination."

"Our party is the party of the people because in its care for the welfare of all our countrymen, it resists dangerous schemes born of discontent, advocated by appeals to sectional or class prejudices and reinforced by the insidious aid of private selfishness and cupidity."

"Above all, our party is the party of the people when it recognizes the fact that sound and absolutely safe money is the lifeblood of our country's strength and prosperity, and when it teaches that none of our fellow citizens, rich or poor, great or humble, can escape the consequences of a degeneration of our currency."

"Democratic care and conservatism dictate that if there exists inconvenience and hardship, resulting from the congestion or imperfect distribution of our circulating medium, a remedy should be applied which will avoid disaster that must follow in the train of silver monometallism."

Then Toastmaster Brown introduced Senator Hill as "The Democrat who stands for all that is pure and grand in Democratic policy."

The senator at length expressed his gratification over the killing of the income tax by the supreme court. Then he took up the silver question, saying: "As a Democrat, I feel compelled to act by the declaration in Chicago, by the repeated declarations of the New York Democracy and as a senator by three existing laws enacted by congress, declaring a principle and a policy."

"I am not in the councils of the gold monometallists, but if I were I would suggest that they are prejudicing the cause of safe and sound currency at this moment by arguing over immaterial incidents, as, for example, whether, under the coinage law of 1792, the silver dollar was the unit of value."

"The reasoning and contention of so many silver men is vitiated, as I think, by the promise that the United States can alone, under present conditions, put and keep silver and gold at a commercial world-wide parity on a ratio of 16 to 1, just as are vitiated in like manner the affirmations of gold monometallists that all the powers of the world combined cannot, if they will, achieve that parity on that ratio."

Comptroller of the Currency James H. Eckels spoke to the toast "Sound Money."

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Fairchild spoke on "Party Principles." Others also spoke.

BRYAN THEIR GUEST.

The Eloquent Nebraskan Addresses a Silver Convention at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, May 25.—Memphis is the storm-center of the south just now in the agitation of the all-absorbing currency question. Close on the heels of the Sound Money convention at the Auditorium, at which the economic views of the secretary of the national treasury were expounded to a large gathering of men from the south, who are opposed to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, comes a rousing meeting of an equally numerous class of citizens, whose slogan is "honest money," and whose guest of honor was the eloquent young Nebraskan, W. J. Bryan.

A considerable part of his speech was taken up with comparisons of Secretary Carlisle's last speech, with utterances said to have been made by him in 1878. The telling points in Mr. Bryan's speech were loudly applauded, and when he had concluded, the audience rose to its feet and cheered for several seconds. He was followed by Congressman J. M. Allen of Mississippi in a humorous and interesting speech.

Predicts a General Strike.

WHEELING, May 25.—Michael Ratchford, president of the Ohio Mine Workers' association, in an address here, predicted that the convention to be held at Columbus on May 29 will order a general strike of miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Inspector Williams Retired.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Police Inspector Williams has been retired from the force upon his own application.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The East Liverpool Athletic club are now comfortably located in their new quarters.

The Globe pottery will resume operation Monday after a partial suspension of work in most of the departments for several weeks.

The scholars of the high school are holding their picnic today, and a number of friends of the young students are the only other guests.

Emmett Mills, a Beaver Falls boy, who is visiting friends in this city, broke one of his fingers last evening while playing ball. The fracture is not serious.

The friends of Percy Albright, the popular young pitcher for the Adrian (Mich.) college team, hint that he will take unto himself a bride upon his return to this city.

The informal reception given the graduating class by the Columbian club last evening was a delightful entertainment, and was enjoyed by a pleasant party of young society people.

The flend with tacks was out again last night, and more than one pneumatic tire was punctured today. If the individual is caught he will be prosecuted as far as the law will permit.

The Grand Army and the Relief corps will attend services at the First United Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, and the ladies have decided to meet at the home of Mrs. Myers at 7 o'clock. All the members are expected to be present.

John Allison, the son of Richard Allison, died at his home across the river last night after a long illness from consumption. Deceased was 19 years of age, and had many friends in this city. Funeral services will be held at his late residence tomorrow afternoon, and interment will be in Flat cemetery.

William Bridge, stage manager at the Grand, and Joseph Warlick, the electrician, constructed the fountain which attracted so much attention last night as a surprise to the class. The artistic setting and the beautiful fountain are among the prettiest pieces of stage work ever seen in the city. A beautiful bouquet was presented by Henry E. Porter.

The picnic given by Miss Kate Harker to her class in East End yesterday was a very enjoyable affair. Bicycle races were among the amusements. Heber Davidson won the half-mile race in 1:36, taking a lamp as first prize; Milt. Holtzman, second, was given a pair of cycling shoes; Tom Porter, third, won a foot brake, and Homer West secured the fourth prize, a pair of trouser guards.

The mystery surrounding the individual who sold stolen wheat to Christian Metch has not been cleared up by the police, but a new complication has made its appearance. It is now certain that an old man rode in the wagon with the boy to the mill, and then got out to walk up town. It is thought that the two came together again, and drove out of the city in the same wagon. There is no clue to their identity.

The river continues to rise slowly, and there is hope in the hearts of steamboat men that it will not go down until after the June rise has come, which means a good season of them. The Hudson took on some ware on its trip up last night, but the amount was small. It will be down tonight at 10 o'clock. The Courier is due for Parkersburg tomorrow morning, and all the other Sunday boats are as usual.

Council will meet on Monday evening to look over Huston road, Indiana avenue and the city wharf. The most important viewing will be that of Huston road, and it is possible that this time something more than a temporary agitation will result. More than one councilman is determined that some satisfaction shall be given the residents of the hill district who petitioned for the widening of the road, and believe that the entire council will see that the matter comes to a conclusion.

John Cain and James McCain have purchased 100 acres of land near the lease of George Buchheit, below Silterville, and will begin a wild cat well next week. McCain has gone to Imperial for his outfit, and will take it to Silterville by boat. This particular part of the oil territory has never been developed, and the purchasers hope to make a good strike. The Silterville field has made many men rich, and the Liverpool men are already seeing visions of wealth.

Mrs. Hauck was making a speech on Second street yesterday evening when Officer Earle chanced to hear her remarks. He endeavored to quiet the woman, and when she insisted that she had a right to talk whether drunk or sober he placed her under arrest. She was not taken without a struggle, and the officer had his hands full for a few minutes, the woman scratching and fighting him at every step. When locked up Mrs. Hauck filled the jail with her lamentations, but the mayor was firm, and she paid him the usual amount this morning for her liberty.

Boy's Waists.

We don't handle these goods regularly, but when we were offered a lot of Boys' Tennis Flannel Waists, running in the popular sizes, from 4 to 12 years, assorted patterns and well made, at a price so that we can make a run on them at 12c a piece, we nabbed them, so here they are. All sizes, big and little, at 12c. Just think of it. You could not get the goods for that money.

Laces.

Never in the history of store keeping in East Liverpool has there been a stock of laces displayed equal to the one on sale in our basement. The silk lace business this season has been large. We have them as low as 10c per yard, and at 15c, 25c, 35c, and 50c you will be surprised at the values. Our lace and embroidery stock will compare with any shown in larger cities.

Wash Goods.

Don't buy your Wash Goods without looking around. We have the 5c Challies and we have the fine French Organdes. But these are two extremes. Come and see what nice styles we have in Dress Gingham, Jaconette Duchesse, Dimities, Sateens, Tullards, Chintzes and Wool Challies. We have—don't be in a hurry—look them over, take samples home, wash them, and we venture to say we will sell you your wash dress.

Pequa Suits.

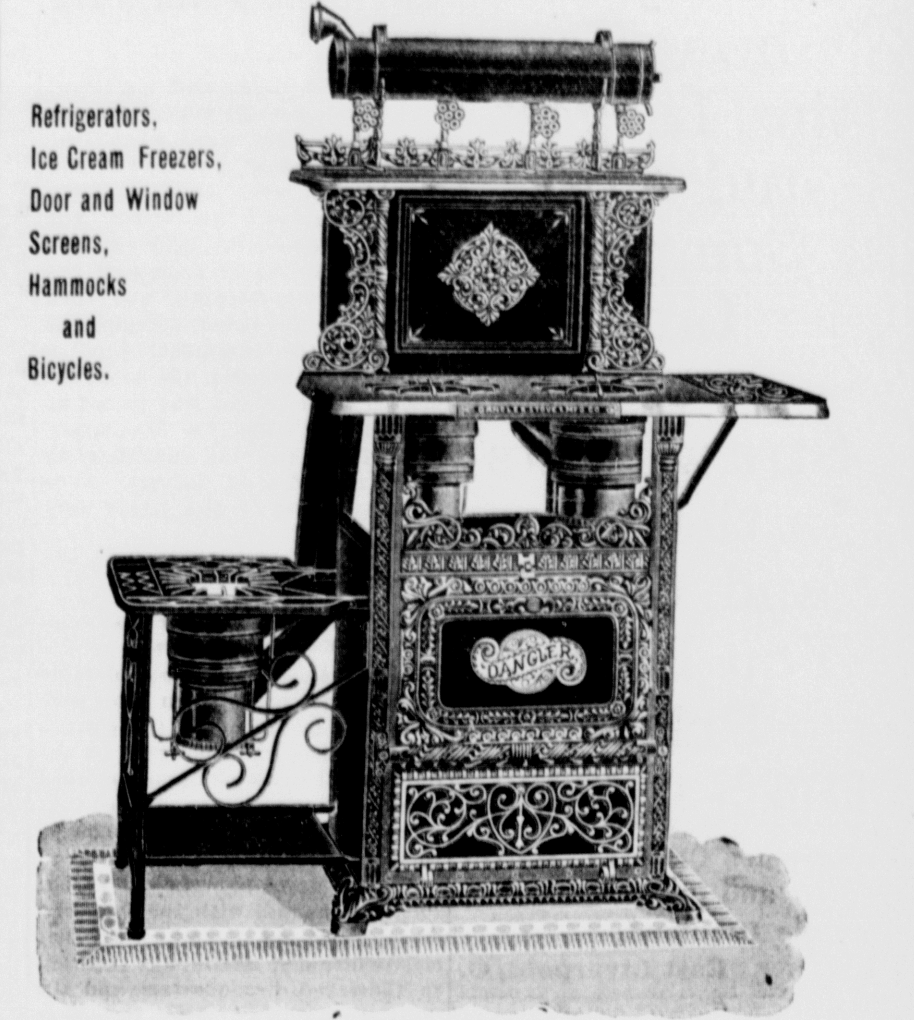

They came in last week. We have had them long enough. Now to know how the ladies like them. We are not saying too much when we say that they are perfect fitting, have plenty of style, and are the proper cut and shape.

Shirt Waists.

The cool weather has made but very little difference in the volume of trade in this department. The style, quality and prices attract the people. No such waists as the JUSTINE WAISTS to fit. Don't buy a waist without style or shape when you can step into our store and for the same money buy a waist that has every advantage that a waist can possess. We are the only people selling the Justine Waist in the city.

DRAGGED IN A STREET

Two Ladies Had a Thrilling Experience.

THE HORSE SCARED AT A CAR

And Dashing Into a Pole Threw the Occupants Out of the Buggy—Mrs. Given Held the Lines and Was Dragged Along the Pavement.

Mrs. Charles Given and her sister, Mrs. Porter, were driving yesterday afternoon on Main street when their horse frightened at a street car, and dashed into a post. The Mrs. Given was thrown into the street, but did not release her hold on the lines.
Recovering for a moment the horse gathered strength, and then dashed down the street, dragging the woman on the pavement. Finding that she could not stop the horse, she released her hold, and was picked up but little the worse for her experience. The horse was caught before doing a great deal of damage. None of the occupants of the buggy were hurt.

MUST WEAR UNIFORMS.

Police Notified to Stay Off the Front End of Street Cars.

Wellsville police were considerably surprised last night when they were notified by motormen on the electric line that they could not ride on the front end of street cars unless clothed in full uniform. They explained that such were the orders, and, of course, they were obeyed.

Inquiry developed the fact that such was the case with the East Liverpool police and motormen say that the condition of affairs was reported to Cleveland headquarters, and the decision resulted. The statement made by a Liverpool paper that there have been spotters on the line and that the motormen were called before Superintendent Andrews and some of them suspended is pronounced as a sensational fake by the men themselves.

FINED THEM.

How Mayor Sinclair Punishes Those Who Fight.

John Rogers and Neil Connor were displaying their pugilistic abilities in the alley in the rear of the American Hotel yesterday afternoon, using all sorts of bad language, and striking each other when occasion afforded.
Word of the conflict came to Officers Johnson and Morgan, and the pugil-ists were gathered in. They told the mayor they were fighting, but said that it was only an insignificant little affair. The mayor did not seem to be in love with those little affairs, and promptly fined them $4 and costs each. They paid it and were released.

Took Them to Lisbon.

Officer Mehan arrested two men stealing a ride on a passenger train, and yesterday evening took them before Squire McKenzie for trial. The squire sentenced them both to Lisbon and they were taken across the country by the officer who made the arrest. This action takes the case from the Wellsville authorities, and leaves the county to care for the victims of Mehan's vigilance. There has been much dispute as to whether Wells-ville or the company should bear the expense.

Gordon Was Fined.

Thomas Gordon, the chap who was captured in the yards while stealing a ride on a freight train, was convicted before the mayor, and fined $6.25 for his fun. It seemed the deepest brand of irony to fine a man with no money or no possibility of his getting any in the near future, and the mayor seemed to appreciate the situation as well as any. He will give Gordon a chance to work out his fine on the streets, and if he refuses to do it he will be kept in jail for 30 days.

A Question of Moment.

When Mayor Sinclair sentenced Gordon to work out his fine or spend the time in jail, he had in mind the criticisms of those who have been condemning the plan of working prisoners on the street. The mayor has no desire to put the city to needless expense, and his position is readily understood.
Should he convict suspects and then release them, the condemnation of his critics would know no bounds. If they are kept at city hall they cost the taxpayers three meals every day.

The Class Reception.

The reception given by the juniors of the high school to the senior class at the home of Miss Jennie Stevenson last evening was an event which they will remember. The cosy home of the hostess was a scene of beauty when the guests began to arrive, the effect being brightened by the pretty costumes of the young ladies. Lunch was served at midnight, and the evening was spent in enjoyment until a late hour. It was one of the most pleasant social affairs of the year.

The Baccalaureate.

Preparations for commencement are being carried on, the whole town being interested in the occasion. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Sunday evening by Reverend Selby at the Methodist Protestant church, and the whole high school will attend.
The exercises this morning made up the final literary program of the year, and were largely attended. They proved training and talent among the scholars, and gave general satisfaction.

WALKED FROM LISBON.

And Forded Beaver Creek With Their Shoes On—A Troublesome Trio.

The Liverpool girls who have been confined in the county jail awaiting transportation to the Industrial home at Delaware got away Thursday afternoon, and made their way to this city.
From all that can be learned, Stella Brookes was the ringleader. The girls had been allowed the freedom of the jail yard to hang up their clothes on wash days, and seemed to like the place. They had a visitor Thursday morning in the shape of the father of Ellen Daugherty, and when he left, Turnkey Bick fastened the cell door with the hasp and hook on the outside, but the lock was left off by an oversight. The Brookes girl pried off the hasp with a poker, and Miss Daugherty held it with a broomstick for fear the noise when the hasp dropped would reach the ears of the cook.
Then with the Ward girl they stole away. The Turnkey discovered them soon after, but the sheriff was absent and he could not leave town. The girls escaped about 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and walked to this city.
They forded Beaver creek, although a bridge was not 100 feet from the place they crossed, and walked through the stream without taking off their shoes or stockings. They climbed a hill over two miles long and arrived here at 9 o'clock Thursday night.
Turnkey Bick telephoned Chief Gill yesterday morning, so that the authorities here could find the girls in-bed at their respective homes, but no search was made until Bick came in last night and found the Ward girl at home. He returned to Lisbon with her and Chief Gill started to hunt the others. He located them, but they gave him a chase in West End, and escaped. Later they walked up to him in the Diamond and said they knew he was looking for them, so they were taken to jail and went to Lisbon with Bick this afternoon. They were especially anxious to return and said they had ran after the buggy when the turnkey started with Miss Ward, but could not catch him. It is thought the girls merely wanted to see the town, and for that reason they left suddenly.
They are loud in their praise of Turnkey Bick's treatment, as he has provided them with many accommodations and extras which ordinary prisoners do not get, but the turnkey has children of his own and is grieved over the case.
Bick has lost all patience with the Ward girl and says he will put her in the murderers' cell at once. He is not to blame for their escape, as the girls merely took advantage of the courtesies shown them, and when they saw the outer door open they walked away.

River News.

A new towboat, the Relief, has just been built by Captain Jim Porter, of New Cumberland. It is now tied to a tow and will go to Louisville on the next high water. Captain Larry Mchaffey will have charge of the boat, which will run regularly between the two ports named.

Captain J. F. Ellison is looking after the wreck of the Iron Queen near St. Marys, W. Va., and will probably employ Diver Henry Reed to recover the pig iron in the sunken steamer.

The broken shaft of the Scotia, which has been laid up at Cincinnati, has been replaced by a new one, but the boat has not yet started out.

The towboat J. B. Williams, which went to Louisville recently, had some trouble with her white deck hands there, and the eastern lot were discharged for colored labor.

Nearly all the boats are having trouble between Pittsburgh and this city, owing to low water, and the fact that it is the first part of the river affected by a decline.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr.
King's New Discovery completely cured her and says it saved her life.
Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured.
He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds.

A MODERN NAVAL BATTLE.

The Spectacle Is a Grand One and the Experience Thrilling.

A layman has no conception of the awful nature of battle in modern naval vessels. Even the cruisers have steel sides, and the air of the inclosed spaces is very confined. The din made by the impact of a heavy projectile against these metal sides is awful beyond description. I wore cotton in my ears, but in spite of that, am still deaf from that cause. The engineers in the Chen-Yuen stuck to their work even when the temperature of the engine room was above 200 degrees F. The skin of their hands and arms was actually roasted off, and every man was blinded for life, the sight being actually seared out.

Later in the action, after my hair had been burned off and my eyes so impaired by injected blood that I could only see out of one of them, and then only by lifting the lid with my fingers, I was desirous of seeing how the enemy was delivering his fire. As I groped my way around the protected deck a hundred pound shell pierced the armor about 18 inches in front of my hand. In a second my hand touching the steel was so burned that part of the skin was left upon the armor. That shows how intense is the heat engendered by the impact of a shot and how rapidly the steel conducts that heat.

One shell struck an open gun shield of the Chen-Yuen early in the action, and glancing thence passed through the open port. Seven gunners were killed and 15 wounded by that shot. Early in the fight the maxim gun in our foretop was silenced. The holes pierced by a shell could be seen from the deck. After the fight we found the officer and men on duty there all dead and frightfully mangled. That one shell had wrought the havoc.

The detonations of the heavy cannon and the impact of hostile projectiles produce concussions that actually rend the clothing off. The Chinese soldiers deserve all credit for their courage and obedience in that action. No duty was too difficult or dangerous. When the Chen-Yuen's forecastle was ablaze from Jap shells, I ordered several officers to cross the shell swept place to fight the fire. They shirked that duty, but when I called upon the men to volunteer to follow me they did it promptly, and the ship was saved. It was while on this duty that a shell passing between my legs threw me aloft and let me down upon the deck with such violence that I became unconscious, and was out of the fight. All of the officers, however, were not cowards. On my ship were several who had been educated in this country, and they were as brave and devoted as men could be. Others, however, were in the safest place they could find amidships.—Captain McGiffin in Mail and Express.

Incandescent Lamp Cleaner.

Many people blame the central station for the poor light from their incandescent lamps, when the fault is really their own. They allow their lamps to be dirty. It has been shown that one day's accumulation of dust on incandescent bulbs cuts off 5 per cent of the light, so the result of a few days' neglect can easily be guessed. As a means of removing to a great extent the frequent complaints of poorness of light a central station recommends the use of a lamp cleaner which greatly facilitates the process of dusting the bulbs. To a 3 foot handle is attached a strong wire framework, which carries a number of felt mittens. By forcing the frame over each lamp and giving the handle a few turns the dust on the glass is removed, leaving the bulb as clean as when it left the factory. Each cleaner is provided with a set of rubber friction pads that will, when suitably placed on the mittens, remove and replace burned out lamps.
The handle can be extended so as to reach lamps at any distance. This device makes the cleaning of lamps a very quick and easy task.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Regret That Came Too Late.

The London Musical Herald tells a queer story about Jack Wilson's tomb in the Little Cloisters at Westminster abbey. Wilson was Shakespeare's tenor.
He was probably the first to sing "Sigh No More, Ladies," and he died at the age of 78, in 1673. The inscription on his tomb at the abbey was much obliterated, and under the direction of an antiquary a man was employed to recut the letters. The antiquary stood looking over him, so that he should make no mistake, and to make the time go pleasantly he expatiated at great length to the workman upon the grandeur and merits of the deceased. The man eventually stopped his work, and looking up at the antiquary said, "I wish, sir, we had known that he was such a swell before we run that there drain pip through him."

A Very Honest View.

The young man whose salary wasn't long enough by several longes to reach to all the points he wanted it to had been harassed that morning by numerous persons with bills and bills and bills.
About noon at which time he had lost count of them, his landlady's husband appeared with another for the past month's provender.

"What's this?" he asked, displaying considerable annoyance.

"Your board bill for the month."

"Well, I'll not pay it," he exclaimed, throwing it on his desk. "Do all you people think I have no use for money except to pay bills with?" and he invited the caller to get out.—Detroit Free Press.

Woolens.

Never put away for the summer a woolen garment of any kind that is spotted with grease or soiled with mud.
Grease is astonishingly attractive to moths, and all the unbrushed clothes gades, and a delicate mixture of ether, ammonia and castile soap for colored ones, may be advised.—Philadelphia

A SINFUL WASTE.

Good Food Allowed to Decay a Feature of American Households.

There are few households in the land but have a periodical recurrence of economy in the matter of food supply.
A big grocer's or butcher's bill immediately suggests that there should be some economy practiced "somewhere."

The present activity in the field of dietetics should spread valuable knowledge into every kitchen. It is already showing benefits in the matter of nutri-tions food versus medicine.

Housewives do not always realize that they have a prominent part to play in this grave question of the day, the "disposal of garbage." That responsibility lies within the domestic threshold, and to consign the collection of waste to the scavenger is not the limit of her power nor a self satisfying conclusion. What she consigns does not concern her, and this "bete noir" found in every part of the land, a subject fraught with almost insurmountable difficulties to those whose business it is to find a healthful and quick disposal of garbage, is far more the business of the housekeeper than she is willing to acknowledge. We must go back of the garbage can to find the cause.
American extravagance is proverbial the world over. We provide with a lavish hand. Unskilled and indifferent help waste accordingly. Expenditure for food in a large percentage of the middle and lower classes is estimated to take very often fully three-fourths of the income.
Actual consumption and benefit derived from quantity supplied is notably small in the wealthier families.

Convincing proof is found in the overflowing garbage can. Lack of robustness among a certain class and the amount of debility afflicting a majority of people prove to investigators a want of proper nutriment to build up the over-wrought body, which must endure somehow the strain and stress of American life and climate.

The unintelligent methods of poor servants, unskilled in handling food, is one cause of the effect. It is considered their prerogative to waste what does not suit their fancy. "Leavings" which may be the best portions from the mistress's table are not palatable to their taste, and so good material is speedily hidden from sight, more is called for, and a haphazard supply to keep Bridget good natured furnishes her with an abundance to overflow ash cans, clog pipes, choke traps, fill cesspools, draw vermin and offer culture as a medium for the ubiquitous microbe. Noxious odors offend nostrils and dangerous effluvia jeopardize health and obstruct sanitary measures.

It is just this waste in the world that has been the cause of plagues, pestilences and diseases. It is wasted time, strength, money, happiness and, too often, life.—Baltimore American.

The Novel of Religion.

I heard long ago of an enterprising tradesman who desired to have the Old Testament at least broken into a series of romances. By others, very likely much less pious men, no version of these narratives can be tolerated except the ancient original versions. Yet many readers or hearers are so familiar with these, or think themselves so familiar (they would probably break down under examination), that something more "spicy" is required by them. I have read an American novel about the love affairs of Judas Iscariot and Mary Magdalene. It did not interest me, I own, but it did make me laugh. Probably a more pious student would have been edified. There is no accounting for tastes. Perhaps no Biblical novel has ever won critical applause or been reckoned a piece of literature. But such novels hit a large class of readers whose tastes in other matters is not always bad.

It would be interesting to know what the thoughts and critics of the restoration thought and said about "The Pilgrim's Progress." Probably they never looked into the cheap little book at all, the book which has outlived Etherage and Sedley and Rochester, and the rest of them. Of course it does not by any means follow that every religious novel read by the people who do read such things and neglected by critics is on a level with Bunyan's masterpiece.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

Beaconsfield's face was a puzzle even to his intimates. It was impossible, by watching it, to gain any insight into his feelings or emotions.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alternative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, aiding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions.
Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need.

No 459. TO IMPROVE ELM street from Pennsylvania avenue to Thompson avenue by grading and otherwise improving the same.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Council of the City of East Liverpool (two thirds of all the members concurring) that all claims of damages duly filed with the city clerk under the resolution to improve Elm street, between the points above named, passed March 26, 1895, be judicially inquired into by the solicitor, in a court of competent jurisdiction, after the improvement herein shall be made.

Sec. 2. That the improvement of said Elm street from Pennsylvania avenue to Thompson avenue be proceeded with in accordance with said resolution by grading the same, including damages, if any, assessed in favor of any owner of adjoining lands, and be assessed per front foot upon the property abutting thereon, according to the law and ordinances on the subject of assessments.

Sec. 3. That the expense of said improvement, including damages, if any, assessed in
